

MAY LEGISLATE WHITEHEAD OUT

La Follette People Have No Love for Rock
County Senator.

BREAK COUNTY LINES

Subject of Railway Taxation
Will Be Up in Assembly Next Week.

THE PRIMARY BILL PROSPECTS

Madison, April 27.—The apportionment question still looms up as a rock in the path of legislation. The division of the state into congressional districts is still untouched. The apportionment committee is having trouble enough just now with the senatorial districts, and while twenty-eight of these have been agreed upon by vote of the committee, it looks as if the work will all be done over again. An effort is claimed to be on foot to legislate either Senator Jones, Senator Harris or Senator Whitehead out of office by putting their three counties into two districts. This would necessitate the breaking of county lines by splitting of Walworth county, putting part of it with Waukesha and part with Rock county, and as the supreme court has said that county lines shall not be broken except in case of necessity, or words to that effect in making up districts, it is not believed that the plan will go through.

There is trouble of a somewhat similar nature in the northwestern part of the state, and with the two democratic counties of Washington and Ozaukee still undisposed of, the theory that the committee will be able to report a bill early the coming week is extremely visionary.

On Railroad Taxation.
The subject of railroad taxation will be up again in the assembly next week, the issue being the passage of the ad valorem bill, taxing the railroads on their property valuation. This bill came from the committee on assessment and collection of taxes with a majority in its favor. A hard fight for it will be made on the floor, and as some of the assemblymen who voted against the bill to increase the license rate have been hearing from their constituents, there is a chance that enough votes may change to pass it. If it goes through the assembly, however, it will have a small chance in the upper house.

A Temperance Measure.
The defeat in the senate of the Roe bill defining drinks containing one per cent of alcohol as intoxicants is a victory for the brewers and the proprietors of blind pigs in the no-license towns. Most of the brewers make a mild beer which is sold under various names to these "restaurants," and while it has happened in Dane county that witnesses have testified that they got drunk on it, after drinking a considerable quantity, the man who sold it has invariably gone free, it being a comparatively easy for a clever lawyer to convince the jury that so mild a drink does not come under the head of intoxicating liquor.

Another temperance measure defeated this week was the Dodge bill extending local option to wards, under which the residents of any ward would be able to keep saloons outside their borders, even though the cities in which they were located permitted license. A strong argument against this was that it would throw out of business many saloon men already established, while rivals across the street, in another ward, would remain undisturbed.

Governor La Follette's veto of the bill authorizing street railway companies to give their employees police powers has brought universal commendation from all over the state. Notwithstanding this, a strong effort is reported as being made to carry the bill over the governor's veto. Action on the veto was postponed until next Wednesday. It requires a two-thirds vote, or twenty-two senators, to carry the bill over a veto, and it is not believed that it can be mustered.

Primary Election Bill.
What will the senate do with the primary election bill which passed the assembly on Thursday night? Is the question that everybody is asking now. If the claims of the stalwart senators hold good, the upper house will kill this bill by about the same vote as that by which it passed the Hagemelster substitute. They are likely, however, to lose one of these, but from the outlook now they will have enough votes to kill the assembly bill. A conference committee will then be in order and a last effort made to draft a compromise that will pass both houses.

It is believed that this could be done by changing the referendum clause so that the measure should be voted on at the fall election of 1902 instead of the spring election. This seems like a slight chance at first glance, but in reality it means the difference of having the next legislature elected under the primary system, if the law is approved by the people, and choosing the legislature by present method. As the next legislature will elect a United States senator to succeed John C. Spooner, the importance of this point is easily recognized. It is the point at which all efforts at a compromise have thus far failed. Whether it will be any different when brought down to the direct issue remains to be seen.

Will Adjourn May 11.
The legislature will adjourn sine die or at least take a long vacation May 11, two weeks from today. This at least is the present plan, said to have been agreed upon by the majority of both houses. It means that if the apportionment of senatorial and congressional districts is not completed by that time one or both will go over to an adjourned session. The assembly proposed action Friday on the resolution passed by the senate fixing the date for May 11, and a change is still possible, but not probable. The agreement is said to have included Sunday and Monday sessions of both houses, but this agreement was broken by the senate, which passed a resolution for adjournment until Monday evening immediately after convening Friday morning. A similar effort was defeated in the assembly, but when the senate's action was learned the vote was reconsidered and the lower house also took a three days' vacation.

MASSACRED BY AN ARAB BAND.

French Officials and 300 Natives in the Village of Marguerite Slain.
Paris, April 27.—Advices have reached here to the effect that a band of Arabs swooped down upon the village of Marguerite, 100 kilometers from Algiers, and slaughtered 300 of the inhabitants. The Arabs killed or wounded the French officials and gendarmes, looted the village, cut the telegraph lines, set fire to the post-office and murdered the postmistress. A small relief force from Miliana arrived and compelled the Arabs to withdraw. This force lost one killed and two wounded. Strong reinforcements are en route to the scene.

Returns to Claim Fortune.

Newcastle, Pa., April 27.—A drunken tramp entered the office of Dr. Evans last night and demanded $1,000 which he said belonged to him. The doctor recognized him as Abner Davis, who had run away from his home at Nanticoke, Pa., eleven years ago, and who had not been heard from since. When Davis' father died he left a fortune which he directed to be divided between his two daughters and Abner. Owing to their inability to find the prodigal the executors of the will gave the money to the two girls.

FAVOR REVISION OF THEIR CREED; PRESBYTERIES OFFERED TWO PLANS

Returns Indicate That No Change is Desired Which Will Impair the Old Doctrines—But the Majority is Against Predestination.

Pittsburg, Pa., April 27.—The vote of the Presbyteries of the United States has been taken on the question of revising the creed, and a majority favors revision.

Today a subcommittee appointed by the general assembly of the Presbyterian church, after a lengthy session in this city, agreed upon two important features of the plan for revision, which will be presented to the general assembly. These features, it is declared, are the most urgently demanded by the Presbyteries, and they are as follows:

"1. A new statement of doctrine to be issued as a supplement to the Confession of Faith.

"2. A revision of the confession itself, either by the addition of a declaratory paragraph or a change in the text.

Text of the Report.
The full text of the report which the subcommittee will make to the General Assembly was unanimously agreed upon and is as follows:

"Your committee find on examination of the returns from the Presbyteries the following facts:

"1. That the returns indicate that the church desires some change in its creedal statement.

"2. That the returns indicate that no change is desired which would in any way impair the integrity of the system of doctrine contained in the Confession of Faith.

Against Predestination.

"3. These returns indicate that it is the mind of the church that the confession shall be interpreted throughout in harmony with the teaching of scripture that God is not willing that any one should perish, nor is it the decree of God, but the wickedness of their own hearts which shuts some men out from the salvation freely and lovingly offered in Jesus Christ to all sinners.

"4. These returns indicate that a plurality of the presbyteries desired that changes should be made in some new statement of present doctrines.

"5. The returns also indicate a desire on the part of many presbyteries for some revision of the present confession, especially in chapter 3, chapter 10, section 3; chapter 16, section 7; chapter 22, section 3; chapter 25, section 6, with additional statements concerning the love of God for all men, missions and the Holy Spirit."

EURETTA KIMBALL IN SECOND PLACE

Result of the District Declamatory
Contest Held at Whitewater
Last Evening.

Miss Florence Copeland of Brodhead, carried off first honors at the district declamatory contest at Whitewater last evening and Miss Eurette Kimball of this city was awarded second place. Miss Copeland's average of the judge's markings on her rendition of "Eugene Aram's Dream" was 94.2-3 and Miss Kimball's average was 90, her selection being "Helene Thumre."

The contest was largely attended and the Janesville high school was represented by the largest delegation. There were 125 tickets sold at the C. M. & St. P. R. R. depot and several parties of young people made the trip overland. The Janesville delegation was very enthusiastic and felt confident of being awarded first and second places and their judgment was sustained by some of the Whitewater Normal school teachers who marked the contestants for their own satisfaction. Miss Kimball was handicapped by a severe cold from which she has suffered for the past week, but she recited beautifully as did Miss Lucy Bigelow, Janesville's second representative. Her average was 89 and the Janesville school has every reason to be proud of its contestants.

Miss Copeland, the winner of the first place, is the daughter of Rev. Copeland, pastor of the Presbyterian church at Brodhead. She is very young, being still in short dresses and is a brilliant and talented young lady. Miss Copeland and her mother spent the day in this city shopping today.

AN EXPRESS CAR ROBBED.

Messenger Bound and Gagged by Two Men Near Macon, Ga.

Macon, Ga., April 27.—The express car of the Central Georgia railroad was robbed between 12:50 and 1:50 a. m. by two men who boarded the train at Macon. The car was going through from Atlanta to Savannah. The express messenger was J. H. White and the conductor Henry Morgan. Some time after the train pulled out of Macon, the two men, who had secreted themselves in some way, entered the express car and confronted White. They seized him, and bound him hand and foot and threw a sack over his head. They went through the packages and secured about $350, but left a $1,000 package lying on the floor. The robbers left the train at the village of Gordon, twenty miles from Macon.

MAN IS MINUS A STOMACH.

Paul Krueger Has His Gut Out and Is Recovering.

Chicago, April 27.—Paul Krueger had his stomach cut out at the hospital of the Illinois Medical college, 61 West Kinzie street. With Krueger it was an alternative between dying within a week or two from a cancer that involved the whole stomach, or dying on the operating table, for the chance of saving his life seemed very slim. He chose to take the chance, and Dr. B. B. Eads, professor of surgery in the college, cut his whole stomach out. Krueger lived through the ordeal and now, six days later, he is alive and on the road to recovery, minus that little organ once deemed absolutely necessary to life—the stomach. Only three successful operations for the removal of the stomach are on record. It is now several years since Dr. Schattler of Zurich astonished the world by cutting out a man's stomach. The patient is still alive and well. Dr. Brigham of San Francisco performed a similar operation that succeeded. Dr. Eads' case is the third.

FIVE MINERS BURIED ALIVE.

Friends Hope to Rescue Them if They Can Survive Three Days.

Springfield, Mo., April 27.—The Rosebud mine at Aurora caved in and buried five men at a depth of 110 feet and seventy feet from the main shaft. Their names are Grand and Elmer Bigler, William Shane, John Gilland and Andrew Fuster. At 7 o'clock p. m. the men were alive. The sound of their tapping on the steel ground rails gave their friends that assurance. Several hundred men, working in relays, are striving to rescue the entombed men, but it will take at least three days to reach them.

HEAD IS JERKED OFF AT A HANGING

"Black Jack" Suffers Supreme Penalty--Rope Severs the Skull from the Body Like a Knife.

Clayton, N. M., April 27.—Thomas E. Ketchum, alias "Black Jack," the notorious outlaw who had terrorized the people of the southwest for the past fifteen years, was hanged here yesterday afternoon for train robbery and his head was severed from his body by the rope as if by a guillotine.

The headless trunk pitched forward toward the spectators, and blood spattered upon those nearest the scaffold. The execution took place inside a stockade built for the occasion. The enclosure was crowded, 150 witnesses having been admitted.

When Ketchum mounted the scaffold at 1:17 p. m., his face was pale, but he showed no fear. A priest stood at his side as the rope was being placed around his neck. The condemned man had consented to this at the last moment. Ketchum declined to make a speech. He muttered: "Good-bye," then said:

"Please dig my grave very deep," and as the cap was drawn over his face shouted: "Let her go." His legs

LABOR COMBINE BEING PLANNED

It Is Meant to Cope with the Great Financial Trusts.

TO MERGE ALL UNIONS

Trades Assemblies Will Force
Terms from the New Gigantic Concerns.

IT INVOLVES 2,000,000 MEN

Pittsburg, April 27.—With the idea of forming one big labor union of 2,000,000 members, National President L. R. Thomas of the pattern makers and about forty heads of various labor unions met in Knights of Labor hall yesterday afternoon.

It is proposed to hold a national convention, at which representatives of the various labor organizations will be present, in Chicago, July 1, for the purpose of formulating plans to bring all the trades unionists in this country under one federal head.

Trusts Bode No Good for Them.

The delegates at this convention will represent nearly 2,000,000 men directly and indirectly connected with the gigantic combinations that have been ushered into existence during the last two years.

It is claimed that the leaders of the workmen are needlessly alarmed over the character and enormity of the combines, and they are inclined to the opinion that the combinations of such vast capital bode no good to them.

This was indicated in the address of National President Thomas at today's meeting. He said that a number of trades had already to be represented, and that already the delegates promised would represent over 200,000 trades unionists who are skilled workmen.

He presented the list, which is as follows: International Association of Machinists, 50,000; iron molders, 60,000; boiler makers and shipbuilders, 40,000; electrical workers, 25,000; blacksmiths, 5,000; pattern makers, 3,000; coremakers, 3,000; brass finishers and metal polishers, 12,000; stove mounters, 3,000.

At the conclusion he added that recently building trades councils throughout the country had been organized in Boston, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Buffalo, Rochester, New York, Detroit, San Francisco, St. Louis, Milwaukee, Scranton, and Hartford. He claimed that these trades are essential to the trades unionists, and can be brought under one head, that is, if the plan proves successful, he operated on the same principle as the combines.

CUBA WILL ACCEPT THE CONDITIONS

Commission from the Constitutional Convention Has Entire Faith in the United States.

Washington, April 27.—Cuba will accept in their entirety the conditions imposed by Congress if the recommendations of the envoys of the Cuban constitutional convention are adopted.

After a lengthy and exhaustive discussion with the officials of the administration covering every possible phase of the situation the Cubans are fully convinced that the United States will deal fairly with Cuba. They are so impressed by the delightful frankness of the officials with whom they have dealt, that their belief in the honesty of the United States is well grounded, and all ideas that the government has any ulterior motives have been entirely dissipated. Assurances have been given them that this administration will not take any advantage whatever of the clause giving the United States a right to intervene in the domestic affairs of Cuba in the event of an outbreak on the part of the people or any other occurrence which threatens the stability of the government.

Great stress was laid upon the fact that in this country precedents count for a great deal and are generally followed, so that the precedents made by the McKinley administration in dealing with Cuba will almost certainly be followed by future administrations.

This assurance is comforting to the Cubans, who feared an interpretation might be put upon the clause in question which might some day jeopardize an independent government in Cuba. The delegates seem to be perfectly satisfied on this point.

RAPID PROGRESS OF THE ELECTRIC ROAD

LINE WILL SWING NEAR CHOATE HOLLISTER FACTORY.

Some Difficulty Experienced by the Surveyors in Getting Down the Steep Grade Near the Hughes Farm—Clough Has Another Line to Delavan Under Consideration.

H. H. Jackson of Chicago, the engineer in charge of the survey for the Beloit, Delavan Lake and Janesville electric road, has been busily engaged during the past few days locating the most feasible route for getting down the steep grade near the Hughes farm, south of the city. They wish the road to swing off from the top of the hill at that point and run over to the Choate-Hollister factory, the canning plant and other industries located in that vicinity.

They have about settled on the best way to reach the desired point and as soon as it is fully decided the survey will be pushed on towards Beloit and Rockford. The survey will take about ten days, and, as soon as completed, active work will commence on the right of way.

To Build Another Line.
M. H. Clough, who is at the head of the company that is building the Rockford-Janesville electric road, is in the city today, says the Rockford Register-Gazette, making final arrangements for the road to enter here. Mr. Clough stated that another line would doubtless be built next summer that would be of much interest to Rockford people.

This is the extension of the electric line that runs from Harvard through to Geneva Lake around the west end of the lake and thence around the east end of Lake Delavan through to the town of Delavan, thence on to Elkhorn. Mr. Clough said that there was little doubt but that the road would go through next summer and that he was himself directly interested in the joint plan.

The line complete from the west point of Geneva Lake to Elkhorn would be 32 miles in length and would connect Rockford with many of the summer resorts in southern Wisconsin. The right of way will doubtless be surveyed through this summer, so that the road can be in active operation during the outing season next year.

Closing Up Right of Way Deals.
Mr. Clough is closing up some deals for the right of way between here and Janesville. This has now all been secured except from two parties, and these have practically settled. Mr. Clough has in fact just come to an agreement with these two parties in regard to securing the right of way through their land, and no difficulty is expected in securing the remainder.

The surveyors are already at work on the final survey from Janesville and will reach Rockford in about three weeks, when active work will commence on the road at once. Most of the material for the new line has been ordered, including the rolling stock.

Twelve cars will be put on at first and a half hour service will be given. The cars are 38 feet long, exclusive of vestibules, which will add five feet additional on each end. They will be finished in handsome quarter-sawn oak, with plate glass windows and mirrors. Each car will be fitted with a smoking department, in which seats will run parallel with the side and the rest will be furnished the same way as any Pullman car. A complete equipment of air brakes will be used and these will be operated by an automatic air pump which stops as soon as the pressure is secured. A complete arrangement for switching has been made. When a car passes a switch a red light is turned on and serves as a danger signal for the next car that approaches it. The company which builds the road is capitalized at $600,000, which insures ample financial backing for the undertaking.

The famous easy washer, Maple City Soap, works perfectly in hard water.

J. W. Peters Got the Contract.
The contract for doing the mason and brick work on the buildings to be erected by the canning company was awarded last evening to J. W. Peters. Mr. Peters' bid for doing the work was $2,578. The canning company furnish all the materials for the buildings, and the contract is for work only. Mr. Peters will commence on the work at once and rush it to completion. In order to get the buildings in shape to handle the produce this season no time can be lost in the construction. It is not the buildings themselves, but the machinery, that takes time to get in shape. They still can handle more acreage, and any wishing to make a contract to supply the works with a number of acres of truck can find contracts at the firm's headquarters.

SPECTACLES FOR ANIMALS.

Horses May Wear Them For Special Purposes, but Not to Aid Vision.

In response to an inquiry an optician said that he had never known himself of any animals wearing spectacles, but he had read of a horse in London that had been provided with a pair of spectacles, which, the account said, "the horse seemed to find delight in wearing." He had no reason to doubt that this was a true story, though certainly the statement that the horse seemed to find delight in wearing the spectacles did seem a little flimsy.

As a general proposition the fitting of any sort of spectacles to the eyes of any animal would require the exercise of intelligence on the part of the wearer as an aid in the fitting. Intelligent assistance would be given by the human animal, man. But this could not be expected of horses and dogs.

Some defects of vision in their eyes might be determined without the aid of the subject examined, but intelligent cooperation in the fitting could not be had in their case even if it were desirable for them to wear spectacles or practicable for them to do so. At any rate, he had never himself known of an animal that did wear spectacles or of spectacles being made for animals.

A veterinary surgeon said that he had never heard of a horse wearing spectacles, though it would not be impossible to provide them if that were desirable.

Horses sometimes wear over the eyes blinders with colored glasses. These are intended to prevent the horse from discerning shadows. Such blinders are sometimes put on trotting horses in races.

There are trotters that shy or break at the shadow on the track of the wire over it marking the starting and finishing point, or at the shadow of a building or of some projecting point of one, just as they would at a pool of water or some actual object on the track. A skip or a break might mean enough distance lost to lose the race. These blinders are used so that the horse won't see the shadows.

There are also put on trotting horses sometimes for the same purpose leather blinders so made and adjusted that the horse can look out over them and upward, but not downward over them to the earth in front of him. Some thoroughbred horses shy at mud or sand thrown in their eyes by horses ahead of them, and for these there are sometimes provided what are in effect spectacles, blinders covering the eyes for their protection, but having glasses of ordinary glass.

Horses and dogs were sometimes provided with glass eyes to improve their appearance.—New York Sun.

Rajah Kills Female Tiger.

Buffalo, N. Y., April 27.—Rajah, the tiger which recently attacked and almost killed its owner, Frank H. Bostick, at Indianapolis, yesterday added to its gory fame by killing a female tiger at the exposition grounds. Both tigers were in the same cage, but were separated by strong wooden bars. The female got too close to the bars, and Rajah caught her by the throat, broke down two bars, and then sucked the tigress' blood from her neck.

One of my milliners was taking Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for a severe cold at that time which seemed to relieve her so quickly that I bought some myself. ## SOME VICIOUS ANTS.

SPECIES THAT HAVE NEARLY EVERY BAD TRAIT OF HUMANITY.

They Are Lazy, Greedy, Tyrannous and Covetous—Some That Reduce Their Captives to Slavery and Put Them to Quiver Uses.

Science is, after all, your real iconoclast. Not content with toppling the busy little bee off her pinnacle of virtues, it goes on to attack the ant, for so long held a pattern and moral of thrift.

Ants, say the wise men, have about every bad trait of humanity—they are lazy, greedy, tyrannous, given to conquests and coveting the territory of their neighbors. Along with the territory they often take the neighbors themselves, holding them ever after in slavery.

Just how this comes to pass is something of a puzzle. There are seven hundred odd species of ants duly classified.

Several of these species, say observers, must possess hypnotic power, since they attack, subjugate and reduce to slavery other species which are much bigger, stronger and more populous in the nests.

After they have got their slaves many other queer things happen. The slaves in some nests are classified—so many told off as soldiers to defend the gates, so many for domestic duties, foraging, the care of eggs, and so on. The soldier ants are further subdivided. The larger number, by constant exercise, develop fierce nipping jaws and poison stings. The others in some curious fashion increase the size of their heads, especially if they happen to be considerably bigger than their masters. The big heads enable them to block a passageway against an invading foe.

Exceptionally elastic slaves are transformed into living honey bottles. They are found with abdomens enormously distended and full of the honey dew the working slaves bring in. Honey dew, he said, is a secretion of the aphides, or plant lice, which the ant swarms keep in herds within the nest.

Ants are passionately fond of honey—indeed, of all sweet juices. They are, further, fond of mushrooms and grow them within their nests. They also cultivate certain species of orchids and bring about distinct modifications of the plant form, stinging the young tender stems so fiercely that they will become almost globular and distill a thin semisaccharine juice, which the ants no doubt regard as rare wine. One particular species of orchid, indeed, is so infested with a virulent stinging ant that the collection of it is very dangerous. The minute the plant is touched all the ants swarming over it rush to the point of attack. That is, however, less curious than the fact that the orchid will not flourish without the ants, but withers away after a feeble, straggling year's growth.

Some few among slaveholding ants remain capable. The most part become utterly demoralized. They cannot build nests, care for their young, or even feed themselves. Not a few, when the slaves have chosen and built a new nest, ride to it upon a slave's back. One species is noteworthy for having only slaves for workers, yet never containing within the nests any slave eggs or young.

As with bees, the queen ant is the mother of the swarm. Unlike bees, however, there are often several queens in the same swarm. The workers are rudimentary females. In slavemaking the victors kill all the perfect ants and take home the others.

Perfect males and females have wings, which they drop as soon as the marriage flight is over. Worker ants have no wings. Worker ants, or, rather slaves, and the aphids cows by no means exhaust the list of ant dependents. They keep various smaller insects as men keep domestic animals. Just why is not yet clear. The fact remains, though, that in the crannies of some nests herds of a thousand almost invisible small creatures have been found.

A year is the average span of ant life, but some species live five years and exceptional individuals as much as seven. All species show the liveliest concern for their eggs, lugging them up into sunshine upon fair days and scuttling back with them the minute the sky is overcast. Upon a fickle April day the eggs may be moved a half dozen times. They are nearly as careful of the aphids eggs. Indeed, throughout they protect their milk kine, shelter them well and take pains in rearing their young.

Hospitality is not unknown among ants. A stranger guest receives distinguished consideration. But woe to the stranger ant that comes uninvited. He is hustled and pummeled and finally hurt mortally unless he saves himself by showing superior fighting power or possessing a clean pair of heels. After he is down a mere squirming trunk, bereft of legs, unable to bite, the slaves lay hold on him and drag him outside the nest to die. Possibly it is an ant superstition that had luck follows a stranger's death in the house.

Formic acid, the distinctive ant product, is one of the greatest vegetable stimulants known. The earth of a nest becomes so saturated with it that some people explain the famous Hindoo mango trick by supposing that the mango seed which comes to flower and fruit before your eyes is planted in a pot of ant heap earth.

However that may be, it is established beyond cavil that ants of some species cultivate and presumably fertilize their favorite food stuffs. Cases in point are the trimmer ants and the harvesting ants, both of which abound in the state of Texas. The trimmers prune a sort of weed which is to their taste so that it shall grow strong and sturdy. The harvesting ants go even beyond that. They clear disks several yards across round about their nests of all manner of vegetation, then plant the disks with ant rice, which they watch and tend until it ripens, letting no vagrant or alien twig show its head.—New York Sun.

Thieves Steal $10,000 in Gold.
Anaconda, Mont., April 27.—Two burglars entered the Alaska saloon by forcing the Main street door. Bodily picking up a 300-pound safe, they loaded it onto an express wagon, standing near, drove outside the city limits, broke the safe open with some primitive tools, and secured $10,000 in gold.

The plow combine ought to cut quite a furrow.

Eat and Run.

There isn't a man who would be seen running through the street munching a piece of pie. Why not? Because it would mean dyspepsia and stomach trouble? Not at all, but because it wouldn't look well. As a matter of fact many a business man snatches a lunch in such a hurry that he might as well take it on the run. That is one reason for the prevailing "stomach trouble" among men of business.

There is a certain remedy for diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. It is Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. The worst cases of dyspepsia and catarrh of the stomach have been cured by this medicine. It cures where all other means have failed to cure.

"I took two bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery for stomach trouble," writes Clarence Barnes, Esq., of Taylorstown, Loudoun Co., Va. "It did me so much good that I didn't take any more. I can eat almost anything now. I am so well pleased with it I hardly know how to thank you for your kind information. I tried a whole lot of things before I wrote to you. There was a gentleman told me about your medicine, and how it had cured his wife. I thought, 'I would try a bottle of it.' Am now glad I did. For do you know what I would have done if it had not been for Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery?"

Doctor Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure biliousness. They stimulate the sluggish liver, and cleanse the system of impurities. They should always be used with "Golden Medical Discovery" when there is need of a laxative.

New England Women

Have an Abiding Faith in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

After years of struggle to attain and merit public confidence, with a firm and steadfast belief that some day others would recognize in us the truth, good faith, and honesty of purpose which we know we possess, what a genuine satisfaction it is to succeed, and to realize the uplifting influence of the merited confidence of a vast army of our fellow beings.

Thus stands the Pinkham name in New England, and all over America, and nowhere is the faith in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound greater than in New England, its home. Merit, and merit alone, can gain this.

ORGANIC INFLAMMATION. PAINFUL PERIODS.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I was troubled very badly with inflammation of the bladder, was sick in bed with it. I had two doctors, but they did me no good. A friend gave me Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and it helped me. I have now taken three bottles of it, and I am entirely cured. It is a God-send to any woman, and I would recommend it to any one suffering as I was. I think, if most of the women would take more of your medicine instead of going to the doctors, they would be better off. The Compound has also cured my husband of kidney trouble." Box 160. Mechanic Falls, Maine.

Mrs. MABEL GOOKIN.

NERVOUS PROSTRATION.

"For two years I suffered from nervous prostration, the result of female weakness. I had leucorrhoea very badly, and at time of menstruation would be obliged to go to bed. Also suffered with headaches, pain across back, and in lower part of abdomen. I was so discouraged. I had read of Lydia E. Pinkham's Compound, and concluded to give it a trial. I wrote to Mrs. Pinkham, and received a very nice letter in return. I began at once the use of her Vegetable Compound and Blood Purifier, and am now feeling splendid. I have no more pain at monthly periods, can do my own work, and have gained ten pounds. I would not be without your Vegetable Compound. It is a splendid medicine. I am very thankful for what it has done for me."—Mrs. J. W. J., 78 Carolina Ave., Jamaica Plain, Mass.

If Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will cure these women—why not you—you cannot tell until you try it. If you are ill, and really want to get well, commence its use at once, and do not let any drug clerk persuade you that he has something of his own which is better, for that is absurd. Ask him to produce the evidence we do.

$5000 REWARD.—We have deposited with the National City Bank of Lynn, $5000, which will be paid to any person who can find that the above testimonial letters are not genuine, or were published before obtaining the writer's special permission. LYDIA E. PINKHAM MEDICINE CO.

Isn't it Worth 25c. To Be Cured of Constipation

People who suffer from habitual constipation with all its attendant ills, clogged stomach and bowels, sluggish liver, heartburn, indigestion, and thin and impure blood, are too apt to believe that the only remedy is violent purgatives. The contrary is the case. Such cathartics, even if they do move the bowels, are irritating and griping, leave the stomach inflamed and enfeebled and the constipated condition recurs with greater difficulty of cure and the sufferer constantly growing worse. There is a laxative that moves the bowels without pain or griping, cleanses the stomach, sharpens the appetite, stimulates the liver, strengthens the nerves, and purifies the blood, while its marvellous tonic properties tone up the entire system and keep it healthy.

Laxakola Does It

Its remarkable tonic properties reach every organ—the liver, kidney, and stomach, nerve, heart and brain—and removes the cause of your debilitated condition. This is the only way to secure an absolute and permanent cure.

Laxakola is the only medicine for babies, is purely vegetable and its action is gentle, speedy and effective. For coated tongue, simple fevers, colds, chills and languid feeling it is the ideal medicine.

It tastes good. Children like it and ask for it. Laxakola, the great tonic laxative, is not only the most efficient of family remedies, but the most economical, because it combines two medicines, viz: laxative and tonic, and at one price. No other remedy gives so much for the money. At druggists, 25c. and 50c., or send for free sample to LAXAKOLA CO., 132 Nassau Street, N. Y., or 356 Dearborn Street, Chicago.

Trade supplied by King's Pharmacy and People's Drug Store.

SEEING THE INVISIBLE.

"Oh mamma, see the pretty little flower, where did it come from?"
The little five year old Minnie stooped over a violet that was flashing its bright colors in the morning sun light, and shaking the dew from its smiling face.

The mother stopped, and picking the modest little flower said:

"The violet came from a little seed that lodged in the grass last fall, and the wind blew a little earth over it, and the snow kept it warm all winter, and in the spring it swelled up and burst and the tiny roots went down and the little shoots came up and blossomed."

"But mamma, who made the violet and how did He do it?"

"Oh, I can't tell how my darling, but God made the violet and painted the pretty colors, and it is His little flower."

"And did God make all the flowers, and all the trees? Where is He all the time, and when does He work?"

"Yes dear, God made everything in nature, and He is all about us, and works all the time. You can see Him most any time if you look for Him."

"Well, I'm going to look, and so the little girl started out on a quest, with a great thought to inspire her in a search for the Invisible."

God in nature is so common to human thought, and so generally recognized, that humanity fails to appreciate the significance of His nearness, or of His presence at all.

The experience is too frequently like the presence of the mother in the home. The children find her every day, year after year, working uncomplainingly for the comfort, anticipating every want, until her presence becomes second nature and they hardly realize she is there.

The farmer sows his seed year after year, expecting the sun shine and rain to nourish it, anticipating the harvest, with but little thought that God had any thing to do with it, and seldom recognizing His hand in the transaction.

The miner goes down into the bowels of the earth and takes out the hidden treasures, without thought of the fact that back in the ages an All Wise Provider, anticipated the wants of humanity long before man existed, and planted securely the treasures for his comfort.

The tourist stands in the presence of the cataract that comes tumbling down through the canyon, walled in on either side by clean cut ledges, that glisten in the sunlight and that speak of ages of endurance, and awed with admiration, he says, how wonderful is nature, with scarce a thought of the creative and controlling force behind it, that produces the picture and holds it in place with a firm and steady hand.

You stand at sunset, looking out over the surface of a peaceful lake, at the painting of gold and crimson that the sun has kissed into beauty, after passing out of sight, and you say: "No artist's brush has ever painted a picture like that," and as the stars tumble out from the blue expanse above, and the full moon rolls up from behind the hill, throwing a path of golden light across the water, you stand spell bound in the presence of God's every day hand work, with scarce a thought of appreciation.

When the elements mass their forces, and the vivid lightning plays across the somber back ground, keeping time to the deep toned voices, that speak from the unseen, and cause the earth to tremble, and when out of the cloud rushes the force that no obstacle can impede, leaving death and desolation in its wake, we stand amid the ruins and say, "That was a terrible storm," forgetting that it was simply nature at play, and that back of the display is a God who controls it all.

And so all through the realm of nature, from the most modest daisy to the most imposing spectacle, the hand of the Invisible is so apparent, and yet so common place, that we go through life without recognizing it, and all too frequently with an utter lack of appreciation.

There is another realm where the presence of God is just as apparent, and yet more difficult to recognize and that is the realm of the human heart.

It is a mistaken notion, all too popular, that God does not have a dwelling place in the hearts of men, and that it is impossible to see Him, except in nature, or in some supernatural way.

The heart that is filled with love of God and humanity is the dwelling place of God, and the life is constantly giving evidence of consecration and loyalty.

Here is a mother whose life is filled full of care and responsibility, yet you never hear a word of complaint or anything else but thankfulness. She finds time to help the unfortunate, to speak a word of comfort to the sorrowing, and her life is running over with deeds of kindness, and words of good cheer. O one of God's children, fashioned in His image and inspired by His abiding presence.

Here is a man, busy with the cares and responsibilities of life, working early and late for the loved ones in the home, yet, never too busy to lend a hand to help humanity, believing in the great brotherhood of the human race and practicing his belief in practical ways, because of the spirit of the Master that inspires to every good word and work.

Out on the prairie, just west of Chicago is a substantial brick house surrounded by vacant lots.

The house is known as "Hope House" and is in charge of Captain and Mrs. McCormick of the Salvation army. If you should visit this home you would find it occupied by from 25 to 50 men. Nothing peculiar about them except their last residence, which was the Joliet state prison.

Mr. and Mrs. McCormick take these men when their sentence has expired, and gives them a home, and fill them with hope and courage, and start them out, after finding places for them, to take up the work of life. A very large majority of them win, and become honest citizens.

Why does this man and his wife devote their lives to this kind of philanthropy? Because of the "God" that is in them, working out in the interests of humanity.

We all say in a general way that "God is everywhere," but if we would localize Him more frequently, and look for the good in human nature, as much as we do for the bad, His presence would be more real and much more helpful.

THE SUBSTITUTE BILL.

The amended Hagemester primary bill, passed by the assembly, will now go to the senate, where the last act in the farce will be ended. The comedy has had a brilliant run all winter, and its most ardent admirers have reason to congratulate themselves on the success of the undertaking.

For a play that had so little merit, it has held the boards steadily for four months. It was thought that a change of program might be necessary but the season has been extended to the 11th of May and a couple of weeks will be ample time for the stock company to produce the other numbers.

A matinee may be necessary occasionally and perhaps a Sunday session now and then, but all things come to them that wait.

We are sorry we printed anything about Chief Kiple of Chicago, and his ideas of how a police department should be run. As will be remembered, Chief Kiple's plan differed from that of the Janesville police magnates, and now that Kiple has been discharged, we suspect that the Janesville magnates had a finger in the pie.

Beloit is looking for the "nigger in the fence," in Mr. Clough's franchise and has not settled the question yet. Beloit's attitude reminds one of some Podunk P. O. or Four Corners, Kansas, where people believe in the good old ways of business simply because they are antiquated.

Assemblyman Valentine is leading the campaign to have the anti-spring shooting law repealed. Mr. Valentine is well known as a sportsman and naturalist, and will wield much influence. Rock county people are in favor of the repeal of the law. The resolution adopted by the board of supervisors is now on file at Madison.

The bill providing a tax on ice shipped out of the state should be killed. If Wisconsin people have anything they can sell for goodness sake let them sell it. Why should a tax be put on ice, but not on the various other commodities that Wisconsin exports.

Canada, in her desire to belittle anything that appears to be heroic in the American, points to Aguinado's capture as the result of his own plans to get out of his difficulties, and retain the esteem of the natives.

The Austrian emperor, Franz Joseph, appears to have forgiven the Mexicans for executing his brother, Maximilian; and has re-established diplomatic relations between the two countries.

Germany is showing a decided interest in Austria's decline, which is sure to be hastened by the death of Emperor Franz Joseph, which can be at no distant date.

A large buffalo farm has been established at Cochrane, Wis., and it is said that the buffalos raised there make all other buffalos look like eleven cents.

Janesville has only held her own during the past five years, but during the next five, it will be different. We're out of the rut at last.

What? The bill increasing railway taxes killed by the assembly? We thought the anti-pass law was designed—but let it pass.

The fact that the need of a new city hall has been recognized also serves to show that: "If You See It in the Gazette," etc., etc.

The standing army bill is taking care of itself and before the next campaign militarism will be too dead to figure as an issue.

If Gen. French is captured he will no longer hold the Boers in suspense as to the way he is going to annihilate them.

The question seems to not whether Russia is going to seize Manchuria, but whether she is going to let go.

The United States has returned the compliment by subscribing for $50,000,000 of the British loan.

The plow makers will be able to cut a wide furrow with $50,000,000 capital.

Janesville has struck her gait.

Michigan Bank Is Robbed.
Detroit, Mich., April 27.—A special to the News from Brighton, Mich., says: "The bank of G. J. Baetke & Co. was entered by thieves, who dynamited the safe and secured about $4,000. So much dynamite was used that the explosion demolished the interior of the bank. The loss to the bank is covered by insurance. Officers are searching the surrounding country for the thieves, but no clew has been discovered as yet."

FORT SUMTER'S FATE

HOW "YANK" AND "JOHNNY" CRIED
HAVOC FORTY YEARS AGO.The South Carolina Demands on Major
Anderson—Efforts to Avoid War.
Flight of the Garrison—No Bread and Little Powder.

[Copyright, 1901, by G. L. Kilmer.]

FORT SUMTER, in Charleston harbor, was evacuated by the United States garrison on Sunday, April 14, 1861, 40 years ago. That event was the beginning of the civil war. But for the turn of affairs at Sumter the political excitement of the hour might have cooled down and peaceful counsel prevailed.

The event which led up to Sumter was the secession of the state of South Carolina from the Union in December, 1860, as a protest against the election of Abraham Lincoln to the presidency on a platform which was held at the south to threaten the rights of states, rights of which the southern people were particularly jealous. In withdrawing from the Federal Union the people of South Carolina held that the Federal property situated on South Carolina soil and paid for in part by South Carolina's contributions to the general fund belonged to the state. In other words, the South Carolinians wished the United States government to withdraw its troops and its Federal officials from the state and treat with the seceded state as with a foreign country. The people of South Carolina and of the south generally were not alone in thinking that this was a constitutional and equitable solution of the problem. Owing to the differences of opinion the Buchanan administration which held power until March 4, 1861, took no vigorous means to re-enforce its garrison nor to assert or even strengthen its power in the south.

Major Anderson of the United States army, commanded the garrison in Charleston harbor and in December, 1860, after the secession of South Carolina, concentrated his force in Fort Sumter, the strongest and most defensible of all the works in the harbor. The transfer was made secretly, and the whole city and state were stirred up by Anderson's clever stroke. The Carolinians had not put a guard in Sumter, but had a force of men there getting it ready for the emergency of war.

Major Anderson was a southerner. He did not want war and hoped that congress would in some way avert the calamity. But he was a true soldier, having the dignity of arms in his keeping and courageous in obeying orders. The South Carolina authorities promptly demanded that he return his garrison to Fort Moultrie, and he as promptly refused. If they wanted fight there in Charleston harbor, he would give it to them and choose his own way of going about it just as though the state had no say in the matter.

During the interval between the occupancy of Fort Sumter and the opening of the bombardment in April, Anderson kept his men at work preparing for defense. The spirit of South Carolina's governor and people was shown on the 5th of January, 1861, when the Star of the West, from New York with re-enforcements for Sumter, attempted to land troops and supplies. The steamer was fired upon by a South Carolina battery located on Morris Island and also by guns in Fort Moultrie. The shots were fired by soldiers of the provisional army of South Carolina.

Major Anderson did not offer to help the Star of the West by silencing the batteries which fired upon her. He did order the guns of Sumter manned, but when the officers asked permission to use them it was refused. The Star of the West soon beat a retreat. Anderson asked Governor Pickens to explain the firing and hinted that he would allow no vessel to pass within the range of Sumter's guns if the explanation was not satisfactory. The governor replied that he would renew the firing under like circumstances.

The South Carolinians seized all the government property in and around Charleston except Sumter and bent all their efforts on the ground and by diplomacy in Washington to have the fort peacefully evacuated. A second attempt to put supplies and troops in the fort was made on April 12, the day the firing began which led to the evacuation on the 14th. Doubtless the southerners had received secret warning of this attempt, as they had of the one in January, for on the 11th General Beauregard, commander of the Confederate States forces, sent Anderson his military ultimatum. This, in substance, asked that Major Anderson abandon the fort and its armament intact, taking out the garrison, with all company arms and property, the stars and stripes to be saluted on lowering.

It took Anderson just 45 minutes to digest and answer the message of Beauregard. Of course he refused to surrender, but he added, "Gentlemen, if you do not batter the fort to pieces about us, we shall be starved out in a few days."

Beauregard reported Anderson's words to the Confederate government, which had been organized during the winter at Montgomery, Ala., and was told to avoid effusion of blood if possible by getting Anderson to evacuate Sumter. In case of further refusal Beauregard was ordered to reduce the fort. Two of Beauregard's aids entered Sumter at 12:45 a. m. April 12 and reiterated the demands of their chief.

Anderson said that he would evacuate the fort on the 15th provided he received no contrary instructions from his government meanwhile, but he would not agree, as was requested of him, not to open his guns in case of hostile demonstration by Confederate troops. At 3:20 a. m. of the 12th the aids handed Anderson the following notification, which they had written in the presence of the major and several of his officers:

Fort Sumter, S. C., April 12, 1861, 3:20 A. M.
Sir—By authority of the Provisional Government of the Confederate States, we have the honor to notify you that he will open the fire of his batteries on Fort Sumter at one hour from this time. We have the honor to be, very respectfully, your obedient servants,
JAMES CHESNUT, Jr.,
Aid-de-camp.
STUART D. LEE,
Captain C. S. Army, Aid-de-camp.

This was the challenge to a combat which opened the ball, and the gladiators at once shook hands and went to their guns.

Captain Lee and Chesnut were quickly rowed to Fort Johnson, on James Island, and Captain George S. James, commanding a battery at that point, was ordered to fire the signal gun. He aroused his men and when all was ready said to Roger A. Pryor, afterward Judge Pryor of New York city, "You are the only man to whom I would give the honor of firing the first gun of the war," and asked him to fire it. Pryor had been with the aids throughout the interview with Anderson. In a husky voice he said, "I could not fire the first gun of the war." Captain James himself fired the shot, and it burst immediately over the fort, about 100 feet above.

This account of the first shot at Sumter, differing from that usually accepted, may be verified from Beauregard's official reports. It is given by General S. D. Lee, the aid who was present, in a narrative published in The Century company's history, "Battles and Leaders of the Civil War." Anderson knew he would be starved out by the 15th if his government did not succeed in sending him supplies. His ammunition was short, and he ordered his officers not to return the Confederate shots until daylight in order to burn the stock of powder on hand to the best advantage. As he was simply fighting against time he also ordered that the firing be done from the casemates, under cover, and not from the guns of the upper tier where the gunners would be exposed to Confederate aim. It was owing to this that the Confederates suffered so little from Sumter shots. The upper guns of the fort would have pounded their low lying shore batteries most effectually. Not a man of the Sumter garrison was hit by Confederate fire, but their hot shot finally set the wooden quarters of the fort on fire, and flying sparks caused an explosion which killed one of Anderson's gunners and wounded several soldiers around the guns.

The bombardment and replies were hot during the 12th. Some of Anderson's men disobeyed commands and fired the guns of the upper tier. At this the Confederates let loose all their ammunition at the top wall. On the 13th the wooden quarters took fire from burning shells thrown purposely to start the flames. The garrison was put to it to save the little powder they had.

MAJOR ROBERT ANDERSON, U. S. A.
[Commandant at Fort Sumter, April, 1861.]

and many barrels of it had to be cast into the sea to save an explosion which would have wrecked the fort. The magazine was saved. During the siege the men lived on pork and water. The last ounce of breadstuffs had been eaten before Anderson told Beauregard he would be starved out in three days. During the siege United States naval vessels were within sight of the garrison outside the bar. It was expected by some of the beleaguered and starving fighters that they would run in while Sumter's fire was engaging the Confederate guns, but no attempt was made to succor the fort that day.

It is not to be wondered at if Major Anderson thought that the Washington authorities did not want to succor him, but had left him to his fate. He saved his men, saved his honor and that of the flag and marched out after a plucky defense waged by starving soldiers who never lost heart, but fought fire, fought hunger, fought the armed enemy, until their commander cried quit.

The Bridegroom Was Scared.

A village preacher says that he once married a rural couple in the presence of a large company of invited guests. The bridegroom was a big, bony, red faced young man, who looked as though he could have felled an ox with his fist, but he shivered and turned pale at the beginning of the ceremony, and at its close he fell down in a dead faint, to the manifest annoyance of his bride, who had been as cool as a cucumber throughout the ceremony.—London Tit-Bits.

IN THE BEAR'S GRASP

MANCHURIA EAGERLY DESIRED BY THE RUSSIANS.

Not a Petty Province, but a Rich, Well Populated, Though Undeveloped, Country—Its Cities, Resources and People.

When the Russian bears gather within his embrace any territory, he never lets it go. Such has been the world's experience in the past, with the almost unique relinquishment of Alaska excluded. There is, therefore, every reason to believe that if the czar's government succeeds in obtaining a grant of Manchuria "for temporary occupation," the complete Russianization of that province may be expected, and it will take its place as an integral part of the Muscovite empire.

Although most nations have at most only a commercial interest in the Russian occupation of Manchuria, its acquisition by the czar may have a great effect on the future history of the world, for Manchuria is not a petty province to be swallowed and digested at will by Russia; it is a great, rich, well populated country, a kingdom in itself. Manchuria's wealth is varied, consisting of agricultural and mineral products. Neither of these sources of revenue has ever been fully developed. Manchuria contains about 300,000 square miles, and its population is variously estimated at from 7,000,000 to 18,000,000.

Manchuria is that part of the Chinese empire that lies between Siberia and Korea. It is bounded on the northwest and north by the Amur river, dividing it from Siberia; on the east the Ussuri river and a land boundary separate it from another part of Siberia. On the south are Korea and the Yellow sea, while on the west lie Mongolia and the Chinese province of Chi-li.

It will be seen that Manchuria forms the northeastern corner of the Chinese empire. Its shape is irregular, the two longest axes being from northwest to southeast and from northeast to southwest. In surface Manchuria is diversified, the mountains being in the northwest and in the east. A range of mountains divides it from Korea. Its soil is for the most part very fertile. In the hands of proper cultivators Manchuria should become one of the world's granaries. At present a large number of Manchurian fields are devoted to the cultivation of the poppy, but, besides this narcotic, a great many other products are grown.

The climate of Manchuria is similar to that of New England, ranging from about 50 above to 10 below in winter and from 70 to 90 above in summer.

Manchuria's mineral products, like its agricultural resources, are many and varied. Gold is known to exist in many parts of the country and has been known for ages. Owing, however, principally to the jealousy of an unprogressive government it has not been mined extensively. Predictions have been made that when Manchuria's goldfields are opened up Australia and California will be eclipsed. Besides gold there are extensive deposits of silver, lead, copper and iron. Coal of an excellent quality is found all over Manchuria, and a great deal of it is being mined.

The people of Manchuria, although once a distinct race, have lost their nationality by being merged with the Chinese. As is well known, the ruling dynasty of the Chinese empire is Manchou. This is owing to the fact that about four centuries ago the Manchous conquered China and became masters of the country. The Manchurians as a race have lost their identity in the swarm of Chinese who entered the country after the Manchurian conquest of their own.

The only remaining Manchous of pure descent are a few nomadic tribes. The ancient language of Manchuria is practically dead, being retained only in court circles, and has been replaced by Chinese. In customs, manners, etc., the Manchurians are like the rest of the Chinese, with the reservation that as the Chinese empire is so greatly diversified nothing can be definitely predicated about the inhabitants of one section of the country that will hold true in all sections.

The comingling of races in Manchuria has had a curious effect on the people. They were formerly distinguished for their courtesy, generosity, love of justice and respect for women. This latter trait is especially rare in the Chinese empire. Now that the Manchous no longer exist as a pure race they have adopted, along with most of the customs and religions of their southern neighbors, the vices of the latter. The inhabitants of Manchuria are nominally Buddhists, but Confucianism, Taoism and the old Shamanism, or worship of nature, still abound. Traces of Mohammedanism and Judaism may also be found among some classes of the population.

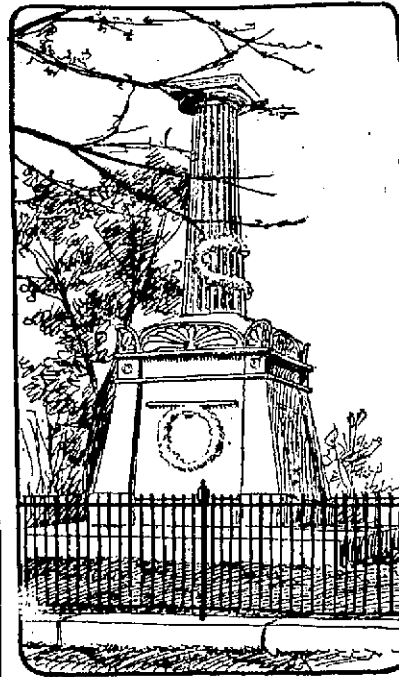

Although Manchuria contains a number of towns with sufficient inhabitants to be styled "cities," they are not so in reality being for the most part vast collections of huts. Mukden, the principal town at present capital of the country is, however, an exception, for it is a clean and well built city. Mukden is considered a holy city, because it was the ancient residence of the reigning family. It contains a magnificent Buddhist temple and historical buildings. Near the city is situated the sacred park, which contains the tomb of the ancient royalties of Manchuria.

CHANGES AT WEST POINT.

Old Fort Clinton to Be Razed and Revolutionary Relics Transferred.

West Point has settled back into its customary condition of quietude now that the hazing investigations are all over. Congress, however, in spite of that unpleasant affair, did not forget the Military academy, but made most liberal provisions for its maintenance during the coming year. Among the smaller appropriations for the great military school is one that possesses unusual interest for students of American history. The item is one of $5,000 for the demolition of old Fort Clinton, the most conspicuous of the Revolutionary works at the Point.

Fort Clinton was first known as Fort Arnold, in honor of the traitor. After his defection its name was changed. It was one of the strongest of the fortifications on the Hudson, and at its base was stretched the famous chain across the stream to prevent the passing of British ships.

For a century or so, of course, Fort Clinton has been useless as a fortification, but it has served as a meeting place for the cadets. In the shadow of the redoubts of the old fort have been fought the much talked of battles between upper and lower class men. Other and more amicable meetings have also been held there. Every June, a day or two before graduation, the whole corps of cadets has been accustomed to meet at twilight under the elms, now grown within the inclosure of the old fort, and settle differences as to class distinctions in a friendly manner. Old books have been burned and class songs sung, and the occasion has been one of jollification and good feeling.

Fort Clinton is rich in relics and associations, historic and academic. In it are stored old trophies of wars and many relics of Revolutionary times. Among Fort Clinton's most interesting sights is the statue erected to the memory of Thaddeus Kosciuszko, the Polish patriot who fought for American freedom and in defense of that of his own country. He served as engineer at West Point. Kosciuszko's statue occupies a very conspicuous position in Fort Clinton and can be plainly seen from the Hudson river. It will, upon the destruction of the old fort, be removed to some other position within the West Point grounds. The monument was erected in 1828 by the cadet corps at an expense of $5,000.

PAN-AMERICAN STAMPS.

The Federal Government is to Honor Buffalo's Big Exposition.

Buffalo's great Pan-American exposition, which will be opened in a few weeks, will have an honor paid to it by the government that was paid to the Columbian and the Transmississippi expositions. On the day of the opening of the big fair the postoffice department will place on sale Pan-American postage stamps.

The new stamps will be of the denominations of 1, 2, 4, 5, 8 and 10 cents. They are of uniform dimensions, three-quarters of an inch by a little more than an inch.

FOUR PAN-AMERICAN STAMPS.

They are printed in black, on paper of various colors. From all indications the stamps will be in great demand, and the government has on hand a large supply.

The designs of the new stamps are most artistic and present pictures of modern progress. They represent, respectively, fast lake navigation, shown by a lake steamer; a fast railway express, an automobile, a steel arch bridge, shown by the one at Niagara falls; ship canal locks, represented by those at Saint Ste. Marie, and fast ocean navigation, by a photograph of an ocean steamship.

She Didn't Send.

A popular Cleveland doctor tells this story of a bright boy, his own, who had reached the mature age of 9 after an early career marked by many wild and mischievous pranks.

His restless nature has made him something of a torment to his teacher at times, and one afternoon not long ago she kept him after the others were dismissed and had a serious talk with him. Perhaps she was a little afraid that her admonitions were falling on stony ground. Anyway, she finally said:

"I certainly will have to ask your father to come and see me."

"Don't you do it," said the boy.

The teacher thought she had made an impression.

"Yes," she repeated, "I must send for your father."

"You better not," said the boy.

"Why not?" inquired the teacher.

"Cause he charges $2 a visit," said the scamp.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Nature's Powers of Healing.

HOW IT CURES

PROF. FUNK

In answer to numerous inquiries concerning his method of treatment, Prof. Funk gives the following brief explanation:

Every action in the body is under control of the nervous system, and to have perfect health this system must be in perfect condition. The amount of blood brought into the organs of the body depends on the action of the nerves which control the blood vessels in these parts. When the action of the nerves becomes perverted there is either a contraction or dilation of the blood vessels controlled by these nerves. If the vessels are constricted the blood supply is insufficient; if dilated, too much blood is brought into the organ, in either case disease is the result. To restore health the circulation must be equalized, and to do this the nerves are stimulated by treating the nerve centres. Drugs, electricity, surgery or hipnotism are not used, but an understanding of the nervous system and how it controls the machinery of the body is necessary to effect a cure. That this method of healing is marvelously successful in curing disease can no longer be doubted, as scores of people in this vicinity have been restored to perfect health by means of magnetism after all other remedies had failed.

Prof. Funk extends to the suffering a cordial invitation to investigate his method of healing. If he cannot cure you, he tells you so. Examination and consultation absolutely free.

Going to Build

Whether you contemplate building at an early date or not, you should have a copy of BAKER'S TWENTIETH CENTURY HOMES. It is the most complete book of Architectural Designs published.

Nearly 300 pages, printed on heavy enamel paper. It is not a theoretical book. Every design shown is from the actual working plans of buildings that have been erected under the direction of our supervising architect. Consequently it is practical in every respect.

It embraces subjects from an attractive cottage at a few hundred dollars to a modern, up-to-date residence, costing many thousands of dollars.

The perspectives are full-page illustrations while the floor plans are half-page sketches.

The descriptions are complete and easily understood; in fact it is an ideal book of practical, up-to-date designs and intelligent descriptions.

The regular price is $2.00 but we would like to present you a copy free of charge. If you could call at our office we would take pleasure in presenting you a copy free of charge. As this is not possible, we will send you a copy by express, charges prepaid upon receipt of only 25c, to cover cost of transportation.

WILL BUILD A PASSENGER STATION TO COST FROM $25,000 TO $30,000

Plans Prepared by the Milwaukee Road Show a Very Fine Building—Company Demands Closing of High Street—Property Holders Kick.

A passenger station costing from $25,000 to $30,000 will be built by the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railroad in this city during the coming season is certain concessions and given them. The plans for the proposed station are here and the colored elevation shows a station that any city might feel proud of.

It is on the same plan as the St. Paul station at Beloit, only larger. It will be one story high of white brick with a gable roof covered with red tile. The gables will be handsomely ornamented with colored tile and will present a fine appearance from any direction.

There will be a commodious ticket office in the center of the building on the side nearest the tracks. The toilet rooms will be located on the opposite side of the building, with wide corridors between them. On one side of the offices will be the main waiting room and on the other connected with it by the corridor will be a smoking room. There will be a long baggage room at one end of the building and at the other a handsome lunch room and convenient kitchen.

The station will be fitted with all of the modern appliances for the comfort and convenience of the passengers and will be up-to-date in every particular.

Depends on High Street.

The location of the new station depends entirely upon the people on High street. For some time past the agents of the company have been actively engaged in calling on the residents of that street, securing signatures to a petition which will be presented to the council, asking that that part of the street south from Race street, now covered by the tracks of the St. Paul and Northwestern railroads be closed to traffic. A meeting of some of the residents of the street was held on Wednesday evening and the question discussed at some length. A majority of the citizens were opposed to having the street closed entirely while some of them were in favor of it.

The proposition that seemed to meet with the least opposition was that of allowing the railroads to occupy half of the street and the other half open for foot passengers and a drive way.

With the platform on a level with the tracks and built of cement or brick and all under cover it would make a convenient crossing.

With Fine Grass Plats.

The idea of the railroad company was to erect their station directly across High street with the main entrance facing up the street with a fine driveway and grass plats on the side of Race street. If they are unable to get the street vacated then the station would have to be erected at some other place.

The train sheds and station would extend from Jackson to Academy street and would be a great improvement over the unsightly freight depot and sheds that now occupy that point.

The removal of the old passenger and freight station and the attendant sheds will make a wonderful difference in the appearance of the yards at this point.

The side tracks will all be rebuilt, straightened out and made more convenient for handling the largely increasing traffic. The depot is always crowded with trains during the morning hours and after the opening of the Janesville & Southeastern will be more congested than ever.

Liability of Accidents.

The point raised by the railway companies in regard to leaving a passenger way open is the liability of accidents occurring as it will be impossible for persons to see any distance either up or down the track until they are crossing it. They would still have to maintain the gates and a flagman and even then they are more liable to have accidents.

If the station is built at all it must be at a point where they can have room enough to stand a long train without blocking the crossing. A viaduct over the tracks has been talked about. This structure would have to be twenty-five feet wide in the clear with approaches five hundred feet long. The grade used in these approaches is called a five per cent. grade or a five foot rise in a hundred feet. This would extend the viaduct north beyond Race street, and south beyond West Bluff street and would be as much of a detriment to the property as closing the street.

Very Little Switching.

After the new freight station on North Main street is completed the old station will be moved away. If the passenger station is not built at the point contemplated the ground will be used for other purposes, as it is too valuable to leave idle.

Another thing should be taken into consideration. If the passenger station is built at High street, most of the tracks that now obstruct that street will be removed and there will be very little if any switching done at that point. All of the freight from the West will be switched around the "Y" near the round house, at the terminus of the Janesville & Southeastern road and all the local freight will be handled in the yards near the Hanson factory on the east side of the river. There will be no trains to amount to anything at that point other than passenger trains.

Although there are numerous objections to closing the street there are many in favor of it, and many of the residents of the street think that the new station would be a benefit to their property.

JOHN MARTIN MUST FINISH HIS WORK

ALDERMEN GONE TO OSHKOSH TO SEE HIS BONDSMEN.

The Contractor is Not Living Up to Specifications in the Paving of Dodge, Pleasant and Court Streets—Has Got Most of His Pay and Is Now Neglecting His Work.

Aldermen Fifield and Gilkey of the highway committee went to Oshkosh this morning to see what had become of John Martin, who had the contract for paving Dodge and Court streets.

It has been noised around for some time that Martin did not intend to keep his contracts in this city. He has received about all of the money coming to him from the city for the work, and could not complete the work unless he lost money. It looks as if Martin intended to jump his contract and it was for this reason that the aldermen took the trip to Oshkosh. They will look up the sureties on the bonds given by Martin for the faithful performance of his contract and see what they propose to do about it.

Martin came back here last week and started into finish up Court street. He hauled some stone onto the street and then left for Oshkosh. Charles Abrahams, his foreman, continued to haul stone for some days after Martin left and then quit. He has written to him several times and has received no answer.

Martin left here last fall owing his laborers some $300 and when he started in again this spring he was unable to get help unless he paid them as soon as they had anything coming. The council could get no satisfaction out of him and finally decided to investigate the matter. Dodge and Pleasant street are practically completed and about ready for acceptance by the city. Court street is in bad shape. There is hardly a block of it finished and the upper end is almost impassable.

The property owners on Court street are tired of the delay and want the street finished up. Knowing ones on the inside say that if the street is completed that it will be at the expense of the city.

This is not Janesville's first experience with John Martin. He has done other work for the city and so far has had trouble with all of his contracts. The South Main street paving job resulted in a squabble and the old West Milwaukee street paving job taken by him was completed by others. Knowing so well the character of the man from former business deals it is singular the city should let a contract to him without knowing that his bonds were good beyond doubt.

Just Between Ourselves

There is a young man in our town who has one characteristic for which he has become noted in the social circle, which delights in owning him as one of its members. More than that, the fame of this characteristic has spread beyond the limits of his special set until it is quite a standing joke with all who know him. Let a "new girl" come to town and as naturally as night follows day our young man is madly in love. If the stranger only visits in the city for a short time the charm generally lasts until after her departure and she has a jolly good time. But alas for her if she has come to make this city her home. The first week or so of constant and flattering attentions is followed by a season of indifference which she finds it hard to understand and then some sad day she awakens to the realization that she has been supplanted by some feminine newcomer.

The young man is the delight of all hostesses on whom is imposed the burden of entertaining fair young relatives and friends and just as certainly is he the despair of the fair maidens who call Janesville home and who find it rather difficult to fully appreciate a young man who lavishes all his attentions in the way of theatre tickets and boxes of chocolates on visitors from other cities.

On a recent visit to Milwaukee our susceptible friend met a beautiful and stylish damsel whose charm was enhanced by the romantic name of Cecil. This was indeed a new experience. Never before had he known a Cecil and when he returned home cupid's bewildering spell still hovered around him.

A few days later, and about two weeks ago, he received a letter from Milwaukee signed "Fannie King." Miss King was a friend of Cecil's and took the liberty of writing, prompted by her desire to assist the two young people in their mutual admiration for each other.

Last Tuesday the hero of our story spent the day in Milton on business and when he returned home about 6 o'clock he found a letter awaiting him, in which Miss King told him that she and her friend Cecil would pass through the city that evening on their way to visit some friends. They would be in the city on the C. & N. W. train which reaches here about 8 o'clock and if he would get some friend and meet them at the depot they would stop over here and have a good time. The young man was flurried. He telephoned a friend in whom he had confided, but the friend was not well and suggested a mutual friend.

The young man was pleased with the suggestion and then devoted himself to hunting the friend who had been decided upon, but who proved as elusive as the proverbial needle in the haystack. Just as he was growing really desperate he found him, gasped out the information that two swell Milwaukee girls were coming to town on the 8 o'clock train, and dragged the friend up to the depot to meet them.

Now, be it known, that the entire affair was a joke perpetrated on the young man by two young lady friends who had heard of the young man's fondness for the mysterious Cecil. They had written the letters and sent the first one to Milwaukee to be mailed.

The second one bore the Janesville post mark but the enamored young man had been so excited that he did not notice it. His friend who accompanied him to the depot was put "next" and was eagerly interested in the young man's story and innocently anxious for the arrival of the Milwaukee maidens.

Just as the train pulled in the two young ladies who were to blame for the entire plot sauntered up to the young man and asked their victim what he was doing at the depot. He replied nervously that he had just come down from Milton and then, with one eye on the alighting passengers, he tried in every possible way to "shake" the two girls whose presence was so undesirable at the moment.

The girls however were totally unmindful of his very evident desire to be rid of them and they kept up a cheerful conversation, tugging the young man up in a series of contradictory stories.

Meanwhile the friend who had been invited to meet the Milwaukee girls was getting indignant over their non-arrival and at last they told him the young man was nearly frantic with his efforts to square himself with his friend and keep the unwelcome females from suspecting what was in the wind. Finally, when the excitement was at its height the girls began to make knowing remarks and at last they told him the whole story making a full and free confession.

The young man showed himself to be the possessor of unusual good sense. He took it good naturedly, even graciously and said "It's my treat, what will you have?" He stood the treat handsomely, paid the bill without a murmur, and laughed at his own expense, but the next morning he left town on the first train. He still has to "set them up" for the boys and it is very likely that before he hears the last of this, the name of Cecil will have lost all its romance and its charm.

There are tricks in all trades and every business man finds something amusing in the conduct of his competitors. There is a certain firm in town whose business consists largely of soliciting large orders and when a sale is made it generally means several hundreds of dollars. There is another firm which is looking after exactly the same kind of sales and it is a peculiar fact that a man who is interested in the success of the second firm spends a great deal of his time in the vicinity of the store where the first named firm does business. It is further asserted that whenever a member or employee of the first firm leaves the store he is shadowed and if his destination betrays the fact that a sale is in prospect the second firm immediately sends out a man on the same trail and after the same order.

While the members of the first firm are amused at the interest taken in their business they finally grew a trifle weary of the detective policy practiced at their expense. One day a man left the first firm's store and started towards Spring Brook. A second man started off "hot foot" in the same direction. The first man made the circuit of the "horn" and then took a pedestrian tour of the First ward and then after an extensive trip in the Second and Third wards returned to the store. The second man followed faithfully until he tumbled to the joke and then he disappeared.

It is rumored that a romance of long standing is to have a happy consummation at the marriage altar in the near future.

command, my pen, without conscious effort on my part, wrote the following words: "I can not express my admiration for my magnificent crew. So long as the enemy showed his flag they fought like American seamen, but when the flag came down they were as gentle and tender as American women. I don't know whether it was the memory of the gentle American woman, or the presence about me of the gallant American seamen that influenced my pen, but it certainly wrote exactly what I felt."

Arraigns the University. Madison, April 27.—A circular anonymous letter has been sent to the members of the legislature. The letter bitterly arraigns the State University referring to it as a poisoned spring, the poison being the Greek letter fraternities which the letter alleges form a social caste of aristocratic exclusiveness.

Efforts to locate the source whence the letter emanated were fruitless. It was ascertained that they had been mailed from Janesville. Many of the senators when they read the letter dropped it into the waste basket without further notice. John M. Whitehead when interviewed professed absolute ignorance of the source of the circular, but said he thought he knew who wrote it. More than this the senator would not speak, reserving further remarks until after he had made an investigation.

Several other senators, among whom were Riordan and Krentzer, thought there was a good deal of reason for the attack upon the social trust at the Varsity.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

A magnificent audience gathered at the Myers Grand last evening and witnessed a production such as is seldom seen outside of the metropolitan theaters. Anna Held, the dainty Parisian actress, and her high grade company gave a dazzling series of brilliant scenes, catchy singing and clever comedy work which was a rare treat to local theater goers.

Naturally, Anna Held was the bright particular star and she was the center of attraction whenever she was on the stage. To those who have heard the rumor that she is losing her beauty and that she can neither sing nor act, but owes her fame and popularity to suggestiveness, her appearance was a revelation and a very delightful surprise. She is decidedly pretty and fascinating, there is a peculiar charm to her singing and she attires herself in stunning costumes which are a feast to the eyes of her audience. The costume in the second act was superb and the display of diamonds and jewels was magnificent.

Her costume for that act is valued at $70,000. Her best work is done in the second act also and the champagne song and tipsy scene is cleverly and artistically done. Low suggestiveness was avoided at all times. All of Miss Held's songs were bright and full of go and she was frequently applauded.

First honors were shared with Chas. A. Bigelow, whose comedy work was a constant delight. It was never overdone and never flat, but always funny and clever. The scene with Adella Barker, the queen of burlesque was one of the funniest and most unique comedy bits ever put upon the stage and the audience fairly screamed over it.

George Marston, Dan Collyer and Max Figman were clever and the twelve chorus girls were exceptionally attractive in personal beauty and in manner. There was a finish to the entire performance which is lacking in most light comedy skits and to those who find pleasure in that particular line of production, "Papa's Wife" must have brought much enjoyment.

Undoubtedly the most important booking that has been made thus far this season by Manager Myers of the Myers Opera House is the famous comedian, Stuart Robson, who will surely appear in this city on the evening of Friday, May 3. The play announced for Mr. Robson's engagement is "She Stoops to Conquer." This comedy affords to Robson a better chance for the display of his inimitable talent than any other piece in which he has appeared. Associated with Mr. Robson is one of the strongest supporting companies on the stage. His leading lady this season is a daughter of Gen. Babcock, formerly secretary of state of Nevada. She is a thoroughly well trained actress who has played leading parts in various companies in this country and Europe. Her equipment, both personal and professional, especially fits her for the classic comedy of "She Stoops to Conquer," and her characterization of Kate Hardcastle, the leading female role, should be of exceptional interest. Miss Barry is furthermore renowned for the excellent taste which she displays in her costumes, which are said to be marvels of the dress maker's art.

MANY TEACHERS ARE IN FAVOR

VOTING CONTEST CREATES A LIVELY INTEREST.

Several Are Now Credited with a Number of Votes.—The Contest is for a Free Box at the Opera House to See Robson in "She Stoops to Conquer."—The Vote.

It is evident from the number of coupons that have already reached this office that several Janesville school teachers are favorites. Which of them will be credited with the greatest number of coupons when the contest for the theater box offered by The Gazette for the most popular teacher in the city, closes, will be a hard matter to guess at this early date.

The friendly rivalry created by this offer of a theater box with six seats, for Stuart Robson's production of "She Stoops to Conquer," is growing more interesting daily and the friends of the teachers are securing coupons for their favorites to a degree that will surprise several of the teachers.

One young lady said she was going to send in a great many coupons for a certain teacher and work hard to see that she secured the theater box because she knew if she did she probably would be invited to enjoy the performance.

Following are the names and number of votes teachers have already received:

DAFFY ST. PAUL BOYS CHASE CHORUS GIRLS

The chorus girls with Anna Held were certainly winners. They were a handsome bunch of young women and are far beyond the average in point of looks.

That they have power to attract is evinced by the fact that T. C. Davis and G. R. Clark, two society young men from St. Paul, are badly smitten on two of the young ladies and have followed them from that place to this city.

Nothing was too good for the girls and they were wined and dined to their hearts' content. They acted like it was an every night occurrence with them and would keep up their end of the game as long as Davis' and Clark's money held out.

The girls left for Rockford this morning, where they play an engagement this evening, and their St. Paul friends nally gave up the chase and returned home.

If troubled by a week digestion, loss of appetite, or constipation, try a few doses of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. Every box warranted. For sale by Peoples' Drug Store and King's Pharmacy.

Sale of All Souls Church.
To the Editor—It is fitting that when such a pioneer society as All Souls church passes from public view a word should be said in explanation. It is not hampered by debt, it has always held a high financial policy and strictly lived up to it, but for various reasons it has been deemed wise to close its career as a church for the present.

In the first place, its work as a church is largely done. Its liberalizing and educational influence has been felt in this city for more than thirty-five years and has helped to narrow the gulf which formerly existed between itself and all the other churches. Everything that was foremost in good religion and good citizenship has been fostered by it.

Many of the best features of modern life were introduced by it, when such innovations were looked upon with distrust, if not horror. Free pews, instrumental music in the church, children's services, social gatherings in the church parlors, literary clubs for the young people, Christmas plays for the children with its free gifts for all alike, and its innocent games, indeed all that is happy and joyous for the young people especially in church affairs, were introduced by it.

If a project for lectures, study classes, or any charitable or philanthropic enterprise was untried way, for the betterment of the city or individual, it was always broached first to All Souls' people, sure that in them it would have hearty sympathy and co-operation.

But the other church societies have been gradually growing up to the same high standard until much of the best that All Souls stood for has become common ground.

Then again, most of the old members have passed on and many of their children have moved away and become scattered, so that the number of families ministered to by the society has become numerically smaller than formerly.

In view of these facts, many of the members believed it wise not to allow their expensive church property to lay idle and deteriorate on their hands, but to dispose of it for the present and to invest the proceeds, with the purpose of reorganization at some time in the future.

Their valuable Sunday school library and some fine pictures have been voted to the children's room of the public library. Other property will be given for various charitable and public purposes. Thus much good will be accomplished in a quiet way while waiting for what may follow.

A FEW FACTS,

About the New Catarrh Cure.
The new Catarrh Cure is a new departure in so called catarrh cures because it actually cures, and is not simply a temporary relief.

The new Catarrh Cure is not a salve ointment, powder or liquid, but a pleasant tasting tablet containing the best specifics for catarrh in a concentrated, convenient form.

The old style of catarrh salves and ointments are greasy, dirty and inconvenient at the best; the new preparation being in tablet form is always clean and convenient.

The new Catarrh Cure is superior to catarrh powders because it is a notorious fact that many catarrh powders contain cocaine.

The new Catarrh Cure is called Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, a wholesome combination of blood root, beachwood tar, guaiacal and other antiseptics, and cures by its action on the blood and mucous membrane, the only rational treatment for catarrh trouble.

You do not have to draw upon your imagination to discover whether you are getting benefitted from Stuart's Tablets; improvements and relief are apparent from the first tablet taken.

All druggists sell and recommend them. They cost but 50 cents for full sized packages, and any catarrh sufferer who has wasted time and money on sprays, salves and powders, will appreciate to the full the merit of Stuart's Catarrh Tablets.
